Ron Miller

Program Director, Executive Compensation Council and Sales Compensation Council
The Conference Board

Ron Miller is the Program Director for two councils of The Conference Board: the Executive Compensation Council and the Sales Compensation Council. Miller has vast experience in compensation and benefits.

He served as the head of global rewards, people mobility, and HR M&A at Du Pont Company in Wilmington, Delaware from 2013 to 2016. Miller was responsible for employee pay and benefits and worked with the compensation committee of the board of directors to establish rewards strategies and ensure an effective link to global business strategies.

Previously, Miller was corporate vice president of global rewards and HR M&A for five years at Applied Materials, Inc. in Santa Clara, California. Prior to Applied Materials, Miller served for 15 years in the same position for Motorola, Inc., a leading provider of wireless telecommunications products. Miller served in similar roles with companies in a variety of other industries, including healthcare, retail, and non-profits. Miller has served on the board of directors of WorldatWork and is a faculty member for their professional certification courses.

Miller holds a bachelor of science in business administration from Arizona State University.
